Cut yarn with enough to sew up. Attach a darning needle and thread through stitches on the knitting needle. Remove from Knitting needle and pull tight. You should have a dome shaped.

Turn inside out and sew up the side of the arm. Thread the yarn in a running stitch through the 'cast on' stitches at the base and pull tight enough so that you can still fit your thumb through. This will give you enough room to stuff your arms and also provides shape. Tie and use left over yarn that is still attached to sew onto the body of the bear. Repeat this for both arms.
